Understanding the Phrase: Origins and Significance

The Historical Roots of the Expression

The phrase "money is the sinews of war" finds its roots in the philosophical and political discourse of the 18th and 19th centuries. It underscores the idea that armies, navies, and war efforts are ultimately fueled by financial resources. The phrase implies that, regardless of military might or technological superiority, without sufficient funds, military campaigns are doomed to falter. Historically, figures like Napoleon Bonaparte and Carl von Clausewitz recognized the indispensable role of finance. Napoleon, for example, understood that sustaining large armies required not just manpower but also a robust supply chain and financial backing. Similarly, Clausewitz, the famed military theorist, acknowledged the importance of resources in shaping strategic outcomes.
