Historical Background and Political Divisions

During the early first century, Palestine was under Roman rule, yet it was divided into several distinct regions, each with its own administrative and cultural characteristics. These divisions reflected historical boundaries, local governance, and socio-political identities.

Roman Provinces and Client Kingdoms

The region was primarily organized into: - Judea: The southernmost province, centered around Jerusalem, governed directly by Roman procurators. It was a hotbed of religious activity and unrest. - Samaria: Located between Judea and Galilee, inhabited predominantly by Samaritans, with a complex relationship with neighboring communities. - Galilee: A fertile, northern region with a mix of Jewish and Gentile populations, where Jesus spent much of his ministry. - Perea: An eastern territory east of the Jordan River, often associated with Herodian control, considered a peripheral area at the time. - Idumea: To the south of Judea, inhabited by Edomites, integrated into the Roman provincial system. Additionally, the Herodian client kingdoms, such as the Kingdom of Herod the Great and his successors, played significant roles in regional governance.

Key Political Figures and Their Territories

- Herod the Great (reigned 37–4 BCE): King of Judea, known for extensive building projects, including the expansion of the Second Temple. - Herod Antipas: Ruler of Galilee and Perea (4 BCE – 39 CE), contemporary of Jesus, involved in various political and religious controversies. - Pontius Pilate: Roman prefect (26–36 CE), responsible for Judea during Jesus' ministry.
